

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a disposable plastic container, used to collect and test veterinary and 5 medical urine samples from cats, dogs and people. A commercial urine test strip is attached on the outside of the container inside a protective envelope. Once opened, the strip is dipped into the urine and a chemical reaction changes the color of the pads. This color is then compared to a reference color on the label which may also be attached to the container. For cats the containers may be 10 loaded with litter and placed inside a multi compartment partitioned litter box.